Dr. P. W. Logan left at this office Saturday some Oklahoma corn which is very much unlike that raised here. The sample of "squaw," or primitive corn has grains of every color of the rainbow. He also left samples of the original Russian or Turkey wheat, introduced into Kansas and known there as Kansas hard wheat. It yields from 15 to 50 bushels per acre and weighs 61 pounds to the bushel and having a hard, small grain is much sought after by exporters. As this wheat is well suited for very severe climates the doctor advises the farmers to try it here. Call at the I. J. office and see samples.

To the Voters of The Waynesburg Magisterial District.

Being the democratic nominee for the office of magistrate in the Waynesburg precinct at the next ensuing November election, I wish to say to all the voters of the precinct that if elected, I will locate in the town of Kingsville, where I can be found at all times ready to attend to any business pertaining to the office. I wish further to assure them that the law will be administered without favor or affection and that the peace and good order of the community will be upheld and that I will not deny or defer to any man either justice or right. Respectfully, CHAS. A. SMITH.

A lame shoulder is usually caused by rheumatism of the muscles, and may be cured by a few applications of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists.

GEORGE T. FARRIS.

Senator George T. Farris, the democratic nominee for State Senator in this district, composed of Lincoln, Boyle, Garrard and Casey, is well and favorably known all over the State. His career as Senator has been a brilliant one and in the trying times at Frankfort after the assassination of Gov. Goebel, he was a recognized leader. A man of fine judgment at all times and very cool headed, the stormy times and reign of terror at the Capital swerved him not from his line of duty, but made him the more determined to do right as he saw right. Senator Farris is an uncompromising democrat and has fought for the furtherance of democracy since he was a boy. He is a good speaker, a gentleman of fine presence and address and what he will do for "Burke" Cochran, the republican nominee, will be a plenty. Always on the right side, Senator Farris is an ardent admirer of Gov. James B. McCreary and will take pride in voting for him for U. S. Senator, something that no democrat in Kentucky can condemn him for. Mr. Farris' family lives at Lancaster, but he is as much at home in any other town in his district and is very popular.

Senator George T. Farris was heard to remark the other day, "Oh, I am not afraid of Cochran. It is true he will win in one county, but I shall win in three." This is the opinion of every democrat in this section.

Prof. J. H. Patterson and Judge M. D. Hughes are soaring neither time, energy nor money in making necessary preparations in order that their entertainment shall be a success, which it is sure to be. ## THE COUNTY JUDGESHIP.

In many respects the office of county judge is of more importance and responsibility than even that of circuit judge. It is the court which selects and appoints guardians for children, and the trustees and administrators of estates, and which holds these fiduciaries to the faithful discharge of their trusts; it is the court which provides and cares for the helpless poor; it is the court which keeps in order the hundreds of miles of our public roads, and the bridges which span our streams; it is the court which determines the amount of county taxes and disburses these taxes when collected. In fine, a county judge, to adequately discharge his duties, should be pre-eminently a man of firmness, sense and integrity.

Appropos of these observations, and of the approaching election of county officers, it is to be earnestly wished that every taxpayer of Lincoln county will, if he has not already done so, read and carefully weigh Judge Bailey's statement published in last Tuesday's issue touching the fiscal affairs of the county. It is a lucid summary of the financial doings of his administration, presented to the people with out parade and with characteristic modesty. It is the unvarnished truth too, and a matter of record where every detail may be verified by any one who chooses to doubt and will consult the open pages of the county court order book. It was, it must be confessed, something in the way of a surprise even to the INTERIOR JOURNAL, which always tries to keep informed as to public matters, for we have not been too much used to find in officials that high degree of painstaking and intelligent care for the people's interests which a good business man gives to his own. We find it here. It is indeed a magnificent record of which any official might be proud, and it shines all the brighter when contrasted with the feeble and im-provident management of certain of his predecessors. Really, though, this contrast is no greater than might naturally be expected between an administration placed in power by the intelligence, character and property of the county, and an administration which is necessarily officered by plebeian patriots and discarded democrats and which is representative chiefly of the ideals of our Negro population.

All the requirements of his station, to which we have above referred, have been met by Judge Bailey in a most gratifying manner, as we may hereafter take occasion to show, but the particular feature of his administration to which we just now call attention is the way in which it has dealt with the fiscal affairs of the county. In January, 1898, when he came into office he found our indebtedness to be $59,800. Of this large debt $27,000 bore 6 per cent. interest and $32,800 5 per cent. Of this latter amount the bonds, by their own terms, were to run 30 years, so that the county, however desirous and able to do so, could not get rid of the burden until the end of that period, by which time we should have paid in interest alone $49,200. In addition, the proceeding court had left a debt of $4,133, not bonded, to be paid out of the levy of 1898. Ten thousand dollars of the old bonds also fell due in that year, making the debt to be met at the very threshold of his term $14,133, for which not one dollar had been provided. Nor had any provision whatever in the way of a sinking fund, required alike by the law and the commonest prudence, ever been made for the payment at maturity of any portion of our bonded debts. In other words, the county had fallen into the spendthrift habit of living beyond its income, and of selling bonds bearing an inordinate rate of interest to meet the deficit, and had been buying turnpike roads at what will appear fancy prices, when compared with the prices afterwards paid by Judge Bailey, and had been paying for them in the same haphazard way, coolly leaving these bonds and the county's credit and honor to take care of themselves as best they might.

These remarkable methods were promptly reversed by Judge Bailey—we say by Judge Bailey, because, as all men know, the magistrates, who meet only occasionally during the year at the court-house, have neither time nor opportunity to give more than the most casual attention to such matters; because, in point of fact, the county judge is the fiscal court. In the year, 1898, and in every year since, the county has lived within its income, paying as it went. In addition the debt of $4,133 was paid at its maturity in 1898. Another batch of the old bonds, $5,000 in amount, was called in and paid off in 1900, and the county treasurer now has $7,000 with which to pay the bonds of July 12, 1897, the moment they fall due. All this has been done, and the ordinary, routine expenses met besides, on the levy of 50 cents to the $100 for 1898, reduced to 47½ cents for 1899, and on the levy of 50 cents for 1900, reduced again to 47 cents for the present year. Nor is this all. By patient and skillful negotiation this administration has refunded all of the county bonds which were issued prior to 1898, on such terms, and at such lower rates of interest, and has sold the new bonds, issued for this purpose, at such a premium above their face value, as to have actually saved the people more than $40,000 in money, to say nothing of the saving and enhancing of the county's credit. And still more, and to crown it all, a sinking fund, the first in the county's history, is established to pay our debts when they become due, in which is already accumulated $13,000 for this purpose—not idle itself—but loaned out and earning interest until the day it is needed. So that, under the policy inaugurated and so skillfully carried out by Judge Bailey, the county of Lincoln, instead of drifting fatuously into bankruptcy, as it was doing, has now its entire indebtedness under control and provided for, and will in a very few years, if the present methods are continued, own its magnificent system of free turnpike roads and be in a position, without feeling it, to mendaciously all its dirt roads, and owe no man nor bank a dollar.

Smaller public services than these have been known in this country to send men to Congress or to seat them in gubernatorial chairs. Judge Bailey, however, makes no pretense of being a statesman or a professional Patriot, and only asks another term of a rather poorly-paid and most laborious office in which to complete the good work which he has so auspiciously begun. There ought not to be any doubt as to the people's response. Nor, from the expression we hear every day, does there seem to be any doubt. His triumphant election, we can but feel, is assured. Mr. D. B. Edmiston seems to have shared in this belief, for neither the threats nor the blandishments of the new republican bosses, Messrs. Varnon and Menefee, availed to shake his prudent resolve to stick fast to his cyclone cellar. He has declined to be immolated—with thanks, and an unsophisticated party of the name of Faulkner, in the Highland district, has been discovered and placed upon the sacrificial altar. Little is at present known of this misguided man save that, for the past year or so, he has been diligently qualifying himself for a judicial career by minding the back door of a still-house. We shall know more of him, doubtless, before the canvass ends, and Mr. Faulkner himself may, peradventure, be somewhat the wiser.

THE Burnams, of Madison, want the whole thing. A. R. Burnam is an appellate judge, C. F. Burnam is State Senator, T. S. Burnam has just been nominated for representative and E. T. Burnam for county attorney. A father and three sons. There is another son, R. R. Burnam, who has not been provided for, which is probably an oversight of the republicans. Possibly they are saving him for mayor of Richmond.

WHILE Gov. Durbin, of Indiana, is attending the convolve in Louisville this week, would it not be a good idea to extract from him a promise to honor a requisition for Hog Jaw Taylor when Gov. Beckham gets ready to make one? It is time Taylor was suffering a little for the death of Gov. Goebel. Good people are tired of the delay of justice.

ELOPING couples will hereafter have to seek another Gretna Green. Attorney General Taylor has ordered that no more marriage licenses shall be issued in Jeffersonville or New Albany to non-residents. The traffic in marriages had become so outrageous that even Indiana could not stand it longer.

J. C. McCLARY

There are living in this county quite a number of teachers and other prominent citizens who received their education within the walls of the National Normal University, at Lebanon, Ohio. All of these have a very warm place in their hearts for this famous institution, and we are sure they will rejoice to learn that the outlook for the University for the coming year is very bright indeed. Many improvements have been made and a faculty has been engaged that is probably superior in education and in teaching ability to any that the school has had for years past. The institution will have at its head Prof. J. Oscar Greaser, an experienced educator, who, after spending several years in Normal Schools, has taken special work in the Ohio State University, in Harvard and in Yale, receiving from the latter the degrees of A. B. and M. A.

A CAUSE FOR REJOICING.

Graduates from this institution can be found in all parts of the land, engaged in every occupation. They attribute their well recognized success not alone to the thorough education and practical common sense equipment which one is able to obtain at Lebanon, but also to the energy and spirit which are instilled into everyone who attends this school.

While the training of teachers is an important work of the school and has given it an enviable reputation, yet in the many other departments which are sustained, young men and women are prepared by the best methods for every business and profession.

There is probably not another school in the land where so many superior advantages can be had in the time and for the small amount of money. The tuition is $8 per session or $24 for the year of 40 weeks. Good board can be had for $1.50 per week.

The school is located in the beautiful town of Lebanon and since it was established there in 1893 has trained more than 50,000 students. To anyone seeking an education we would recommend this institution. A catalogue can be had for the asking.

Born, to W. P. Walton, editor of the Harrodsburg Democrat, on the 13th Inst., a semi-weekly. It was in full dress and as lively as its mother, the lady who has been giving the public sound democratic doctrine for the past two months. The new advent is a perfect counterpart of the parent, and what it will do for those not walking in that straight and narrow path, will be sufficient. An automobile is on exhibition at our fair, which opened yesterday, and if she were here we would place her upon the front seat and let the vast assembly view the handsomest turnout.—Columbia News.

MIDDLEBURG.

School is progressing nicely at Middleburg Normal College. The prospects for a large attendance during the winter term are most flattering.

A protracted meeting will be held at the Christian church beginning early in September. Rev. Logan Godbey succeeds to the pastorate of the M. E. church, made vacant by the death of the late Rev. Purdon.

The oil excitement has struck Casey county and proper developments may outrival Wayne county. Deposits of coal throughout various sections of the county are also thought to be very rich but which will never be determined until the hand of progress takes hold.

An Epworth League has been organized at the M. E. church at this place and it is hoped that great good will come from the grand organization. Rev. Logan Godbey was the leading spirit of the organization. The E. L. is a Christian society and will not be confined to any sect and it is to be hoped that all young people who have the interest of humanity at heart, will take membership and success will be assured.

It has rained here every day for nearly two weeks. Fields and pastures that only a short time ago were parched and seemingly beyond resurrection, are now wearing a carpet of verdure. We will have a fair corn crop and with a fairly good fruit crop, we have no serious cause for complaint. The late rains have brought tobacco out wonderfully and a fairly good yield is confidently expected. The water mill here ground a couple of days this week, the first grinding in several weeks.

A goodly number of the representative citizens of the various parts of the county are petitioning our county judge for the privilege of voting on free turnpikes in Casey county and it is almost a "sure thing" that the question will be voted on at the coming November election and if we are not badly off the free turnpikers will win by a large majority. The good people of Casey and adjoining counties as well, are tired of paying toll on roads that are far behind those in counties in which the people voted free pikes. The present toll system has been a barrier to the progress and development of Casey county from the day that her sister counties did away with the toll gate system.

Casey democrats are tickled over the nomination of Mr. Cochran by the rats for Senator. Mr. Cochran is a clever man but he never saw the day that he could eclipse the great Farris wheel of Garrard, who has a greater hold on the Casey democrats than Mr. C. has on the local G. O. P. The Liberty man can not hope for any assistance at all outside his own party and as this is his debut on the political stage, the good people of this district, if we mistake them not, will hardly turn their back on one whose every effort has been put to the betterment and advancement of our people and State. A more loyal democracy than that of the Casey ilk does not exist, and we promise the boys of Boyle, Garrard and Lincoln that if they will only do their part that the re-election of Senator Farris is assured. The majority of Casey democrats favor Gov. McCreary for U. S. Senator to succeed that miserable misfit Daboe. M. W. Jones, the people's candidate, is making a clean and honorable canvass for judge and the outlook is very encouraging.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. Sarah Cook died at her home on Dix River in Lincoln county, Ky., on Aug. 7, 1898. Her maiden name was Sarah Robinson, and she was born in Garrard county, Aug. 8, 1803, lacking only one day of being 95 years old. She was the last survivor of a family of 10 children, five sons and five daughters. She united with the Christian church about the year 1827 or '28, and was immersed by Elder Wm. S. S. Cook, who was one of the greatest pioneer preachers in that day. Her two children survive her, (Mrs. Dr. Wm. Huffman, of Lancaster, and Mr. S. R. Cook, who, with his family, resided with her) to mourn their loss, but they mourn not as those who have no hope, for she died as she had always lived in the triumphs of the Christian faith, and in the blessed assurance of a blissful immortality. 'T would be a sweet thought to think that the end shall come to us all, as to her, without pain, in the evening of her days, and the rest that shall come to the soul, and in the infinite tenderness of that voice, as it whispers, "Fear not; I will be with you; my rod and my staff shall comfort you." Deceased was an earnest and zealous Christian, exerting a godly influence upon all with whom she came in contact. Her disposition was most amiable and she had a very meek, gentle and quiet spirit. She was a devoted and an indulgent yet wise mother. Her fondness for her children was proverbial, her presence at all times carried sunshine with it; and her loss will be most deeply felt by those who were with her most and know her best. Her life was one of self-sacrifice, actuated by the spirit of the Master whom she served; and we can but rejoice at the thought that this life of devotion to duty was only a preparation for that joyous life upon which she has now entered in that heavenly home. But she has gone to join that innumerable throng in that home "not made with hands, eternal in the heavens." The faithful servant of a loving Master has been called to her glorious reward.

The Frenchburg News is a little paper, but it contains the biggest fish we ever read. Here it is: "A one-armed man living near Falmouth, who has a sharp, pointed hook in lieu of a hand, one day last week, while asleep in a boat on the Licking River, allowed his hook-hand to fall over the side of the boat. A minnow came along and was impaled on the end of the hook. While it was struggling, a 3-pound bass made a rush and was also impaled. The owner of the hand was aroused from his sleep, and succeeded in landing the bass, which he enjoyed heartily for supper that night."

State College of Kentucky.

The Agricultural and Mechanical (State College) College of Kentucky offers the following courses of study, viz: Agricultural, Horticultural, Chemical, Biological, Mathematical, Normal School, Classical, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Civil Engineering, each of which extends over four years and leads to a degree. Post-graduate courses of study are also provided, leading each to a master's degree. Each course of study is organized under a separate faculty. The general faculty numbers more than thirty professors and instructors. COUNTY APPOINTEES receive tuition, room rent in dormitory, fuel and lights, and if they remain in months, traveling expenses. The laboratories and museums are large, well equipped, comprehensive and modern. The last Legislature appropriated $30,000 for a college home for young women and a drill hall and gymnasium has been provided for men. Military tactics and science are fully provided for, as required by Congress. Graduates from the several courses of study readily find excellent positions and liberal remuneration. The demand is largely in excess of the ability of the college to supply. Last year the matriculation list was 620. For catalogues, method of obtaining appointments, information regarding courses of study and terms of admission, apply to
